

New Workshop

Racism In America: What Is Mine To Do?

Testimonials

"The powerful witnessing opened my eyes and changed my heart. Maybe we really can move the needle."

"I am so weary. But this experience revived my soul."

The answers to What Is Mine to Do? lie in your story. Your personal, intimate story reveals what life has taught you about racism. Chart your narrative. Uncover beliefs, assumptions, and disappointed dreams. See where your story is pointing you today.

OUTCOMES

- Discern what is 'Mine to Do' to move toward race reconciliation
- Learn ways to start and stay in conversations on race
- How to respond when racism appears

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

- Design your personal timeline revealing when race mattered, positively and negatively, and its impact on your life
- When have you honored — and dis-honored — your values when considering race
- What is your relationship to race going forward

WHAT'S NOT COVERED

History lesson on racism. Debating current events. Convincing others of your point of view. Long presentations.

TOPICS WITH SOME SHARP EDGES

- Discover biases and assumptions that serve you, and those that don't
- Particularly for white participants, how to manage silence, defensiveness, and certitude when talking about race

WISDOM TRADITIONS SHOW THE WAY

- Time for reflection
- Storytelling and witnessing generate empathy and conviction

2019 Dates:

Friday, Sept 6, 12pm - 5pm
Saturday, Sept 7, 9am - 5pm

Cost:

$75 donation.
Sponsor is subsidizing expenses including meals, training materials, expert facilitators

Location:

The Loudermilk Center
40 Courtland St NE
Atlanta, GA 30303

Contact Info:

Catherine Perry PCC, Founder
InwardBound Center for Nonprofit Leadership
cperry@inwardboundcenter.org
(404) 386-8434

ENROLL NOW AT <https://inwardbound-race-workshop.eventbrite.com>

The InwardBound Center envisions the day when nonprofits committed to overcoming poverty rank on the Best Places to Work lists, known for outstanding leadership and success in achieving their mission. Tax exempt 501(c)(3) organization. Founded by Catherine Perry PCC.

