We don't need to agree on the extent of racism. But we need to become experts on how it's showing up in ourselves, and our day-to-day world. So we can discern 'what is mine to do.'

OUTCOMES

- See ways to start and stay in conversations about race
- Gain an understanding about the role you can play

TOPICS

- How honoring your values reveals ways you can move the needle on racism
- How to manage shutting down, defensiveness, and certitude
- New neuroscience reveals ways to outmaneuver old beliefs
- What it means to follow the leadership of people of color

WHAT'S NOT COVERED

- No debating current events
- No convincing others of your point of view
- No long presentations

WHAT MAKES THIS WORKSHOP UNIQUE

- NOT a webinar. An interactive experience with small group breakouts
- Strikes the balance between making internal shifts and taking action
